

ALLEGED KIDNAPERS' BAIL IS INCREASED

Father of Ransomed Boy Tells Court of Threatening Letters.

Lauchlin La Rosa, Francesco Macatano, Antonio Straguso, Vincenzo Acena and Mrs. Katrina Acena, Colapero and Pasquale Malone, Nicolo Rotolo, Antonio Damico and Paladino Lunsio, all accused of the kidnapping of Frank Longo, aged eight years, son of Francesco Longo, a baker, at No. 190 Bleecker street, were arraigned in Jefferson Market Court to-day before Magistrate McQuade. The examination was adjourned till Thursday. Bail for Rotolo was continued at $25,000, that for Straguso was increased to $25,000, and for the other eight bail was fixed at $12,000 each. Longo told the story of the kidnapping and ransom of his son and of the six threatening letters sent to him. The gist of these letters was: "If you go to the police your son will die, and we are ready with our guns. If you do not send the money we shall send your son's head by parcel post."

Ladies: Try This For Offensive Odors Under Arms

Use This New Prescription at Our Rooms. Stop All Odors Instantly and Go Away with Dream Shirts.

These are the days when leading druggists report a constantly increasing demand for Brucella, the newly discovered liquid which, when applied under the arms with a camel's hair brush, instantly stops all odor and perspiration.

As evidence of good faith, use as directed, and if at any time you are dissatisfied, return the bottle and withdraw your deposit. Any well stocked drug store can supply Brucella.

BOY IS FATALLY SHOT; FARMERS ARE SUSPECTED

Strawberry Growers Have Been Complaining of Trespassers on Farms.

(Special to The Evening World.)
SAYVILLE, L. I., July 7.—John Hula, a thirteen-year-old boy, is near death at the home of his father, Thomas Hula, a farmer, of the village of Cerm. He was found Sunday in the road between the homes of George and Charles Edwards. Dr. E. F. Many said that the boy's wounds indicated that both barrels of a shotgun were fired into him at close range. Justice of the Peace Thomas Lee has enlisted the services of three Deputy Sheriffs to find out who shot the lad. They have learned that persons in the neighborhood have been complaining of the trespassing of boys in their strawberry patches. Search of the homes of these farmers for shotguns is being made.

GREASE POT STARTS BLAZE.

Crowd in Street Thinks Child's Restaurant is Burning.

A pot of grease took fire on the range in a Child's restaurant at No. 42 East Fourteenth street at lunch time to-day. The fire caught and a sheet of flame leaped from the chimney, giving those who saw it the impression that the whole roof was ablaze. Crowds gathered until the street was jammed with men and women and the reserves had to be called from the Mercer street police station.

Firemen put the fire out quickly by climbing to the roof and pouring sand and salt down the flue. In the restaurant the patrons went right on eating.

ALLEGED SLAVERS INDICTED.

Grand Jury Names Ten Men and One Woman Under White Slave Law.

Indictments charging ten men and one woman, Rosina di Fiori, with violating the State White Slave law were returned in Justice Brady's part of the Bronx Supreme Court to-day, as the result of the pitiful stories told yesterday to the Grand Jury by Mrs. Della Neally Hanson, who was made a prisoner by the white slavers—and three other young women. Nine of the accused men and the di Fiori woman are under arrest.

Pioneer Lutheran Minister Dies.
EVANSTON, Ill., July 7.—Rev. C. F. W. Scholz, ninety-three years old, the last of eight pioneers who came to this country in 1841 to spread the Lutheran faith, died at Secor, Ill., yesterday. Scholz is credited with founding the Missouri and Ohio synods of the Lutheran Church in America. Through his efforts, Concordia College at Fort Wayne, Ind., was started.

Resinol stops scalp itching
